

Racism, anti-semitism, islamophobia, sexism, discrimination against Roma and Sinti are forms of group-based enmity, which are unfortunately still being reproduced through praxis and doctrines of European (peace) churches and communities today.

We know by now that Black, Indigenous & People of Color (BIPOC) have historically suffered from racist violence in white dominated church spaces. This conference will address the effects this continues to have on peace communities and the Church today and will investigate ways to mitigate these patterns from being reproduced in the future.

As Christians, we believe in God who has created humans in his*her likeness – and thus equal. Our faith requires us to actively oppose systems, practices, doctrines and ideologies of inequality. Our faith calls us to embody justice, to live in harmony and to build peace.

We ask: What does this look like in practice? How do communities and churches, and especially those that want to live as peace churches, counter these harmful attitudes? What does an anti-racist spiritual practice of equality look like?

The perspectives of People of Colour will be given a central place in our conference. Our aim is to create safe learning and sharing spaces in which a critical examination of the past and present of peace communities and churches in Europe is possible.

With our speakers we will reflect on the theological and the practical work of churches in response to the call of the 2022 Assembly of the World Council of Churches to confront racism and xenophobia, overcome discrimination and ensure belonging.

Participants will share ideas and methods to empower the movement against inequality and racism, to be able to shoulder the pain of this discourse and, as a European network, strive to grow into a faith community depicting God's likeness of every human being.

BIPOC Safe Space

We offer a space to reflect and retreat for BIPOC (Black, Indigenous & People of Color), where they can share their experiences, strengthen each other and be empowered despite potentially disempowering interactions within the conference space. It allows BIPOC a pause for breath, recognition and a counterbalance to confrontational situations in order to continue participating in discussions and meetings in mixed circles.

Church and Peace is...

the Europe-wide network of peace church communities, congregations, organisations, institutions and individual members from 14 countries and a broad range of Christian traditions.

church and peace

The common basis of Church and Peace is the call to nonviolence, at the heart of the Gospel, and a practical commitment to peace and reconciliation, our guidance and strength coming from the Bible.

Members of Church and Peace support one another in developing a spiritual practice and lifestyle that serves peace and justice. Particularly in countries marked by conflict and war, we are united in a commitment to nonviolence and to linking peace theology and practice. Together we strive for reconciliation, engage in dialogue, peace education and conflict resolution. We work towards a just distribution of resources and advocate good stewardship of creation.
